

Capability Statement

industrial services

Whether you're an entrepreneur launching your next big product, an established company needing outsourced assembly services or a government entity seeking broader support, Crossroads Industrial Services offers a custom array of solutions all along the manufacturing continuum. We save organizations valuable resources while improving their bottom line through our contract manufacturing, assembly and supply chain services.

Our efficient just-in-time and lean manufacturing processes reduce the cost and time required to get products to market and our scalable staffing models support variable volumes for the benefit of our customers. With over 80 trained employees, Crossroads is conveniently located in the Midwest near major interstates on the east side of Indianapolis in a 68,000 square-foot facility.

Crossroads' focus on growth includes using our unique AbilityOne® supplier classification to win new contracts with the federal government and "prime" contractors. We have several contracts with the Department of Defense and are part of their alternative release program based upon our commitment to continuous quality improvement. We will grow existing manufacturing business with private industry, as well as develop new medical device, automotive and industrial product customers.

Crossroads, a division of Easterseals Crossroads, has been helping companies for more than 80 years focus on core strengths while lowering their operational and production costs. Crossroads' mission is to employ people with disabilities and generate an income to support rehabilitation services for children and adults at Easterseals Crossroads.
